Ambulance Ass'n. Honors Dr. T. K. MacLean

Presentation Made in Appreciation of Services—Up-to-Date Mine Rescue Equipment Required for District Mines.

The local branch of St. John's Ambulance Association maintained its reputation for a good social evening and smoker at its annual gathering on Saturday evening in the Oddfellows' Hall, at which J. J. McIntyre, superintendent of International mine, was chairman.

As guests of the branch were Doctors R. P. Dorden, D. J. Sweeney and Dr. Keith MacLean; Evan H. Morgan, district inspector of mines; Milton H. Congdon, First Aid instructor at Blairmore; Ed. Royle, of the mine rescue branch, and representatives from Bellevue and Hillcrest. Dave Young, manager of Mohawk Bituminous Mines, was also among the guests, and Hector McDonald, superintendent of McGillivray mine.

As the guest of honor, Dr. MacLean was presented by the branch with a fine surgical instrument of the most modern type used in treating bone fractures. This was in appreciation of his services as lecturer to the classes of the Association during the winter.

Honor prizes were presented to M. D. Fontana, who made the highest points in the classes with 114 of a possible 120; J. Ukrainitz with 110 and A. A. Fraser a close third. Each were given hearty applause and repelled briefly.

Short addresses were given by Dr. Borden, Dr. Sweeney, H. T. Halliwell, Dave Young, Evan H. Morgan, J. Henderson, of Hillcrest; Joe Morris, of Bellevue; M. H. Congdon and Archie McCulloch, president of the local branch.

Mr. McIntyre urged younger men to take up training for mine rescue competitions, and it was announced (Continued on Back Page)

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR LAWRENCE FORD

On Sunday the body of Lawrence Ford, killed on March 8 in McGillivray mine, was taken from the home of his parents on Sixth street, to St. Luke's church, Blairmore, followed by a large number of cars conveying the mourners and friends and acquaintances of the family. To carry the many floral tributes a special conveyance was required.

The service of the Church of England was read by the Rev. A. S. Partington, B.A., and Miss Lena Fraser sang "The Old Rugged Cross." The burial was in Blairmore cemetery, his bride of less than a month expressing the desire that he be buried there.

The funeral party included Mrs. Lawrence Ford, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hughson; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shields, Mr. and Mrs. George Ford and Mr. and Mrs. William Ford, Mr. and Mrs. James Ford, parents of Lawrence, and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Watkins, though present at the brief service at the house, did not go to Blairmore, owing to the grief-stricken condition of the parents, who were called back from Victoria, B.C., where they had been for the benefit of Mr. Ford's health.

The pall-bearers were friends of the young man, who had attended school at the same time. They were Herbert Dunlop, Stanley Atkinson, J. Hastings, Clarence Clark, Johnny James, Benny Harrison. Lawrence had just entered his 20th year, and was born in Coleman. His untimely death brings heartfelt sympathy of the community to his wife, his parents and the family.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to the many friends who gave their kindness, sympathy and beautiful floral offerings, at the death of our beloved son and brother, Lawrence. Particularly to Dr. T. Keith MacLean for his kindly thoughtfulness; and to Drs. R. P. Borden, D. J. Sweeney and R. F. Stewart.

Appreciation and thanks is also expressed to Mrs. R. P. Borden and (Continued on Page 10)

NATIONAL ADVERTISERS FAVOR WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS

In Addition to Local Advertising, The Journal Carries Considerable National Advertising of Importance.

In this week's issue, besides the considerable volume of advertising of Coleman firms, is the advertising of large national concerns, such as Canadian General Electric Ltd., Dominion Textile Company, Canadian Pacific Railway, The Brewing Industry of Alberta, British Columbia Distilleries, Life Insurance Underwriters, Hudson's Bay Co. Other contracts with this paper include Canadian Bank of Commerce, Distillers Co. of Canada, Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada, Greyhound Bus Lines, Canadian Department of Fisheries, General Motors Corporation, and various other concerns of national importance.

Space is purchased in the more than 500 weekly newspapers in Canada by these firms, because they know that no other medium is so thoroughly read by the population outside of the large centres as the weekly newspapers, whose national audience includes all the leading weeklies in the nine Canadian provinces from coast to coast, and in Newfoundland.

ATTENDED MASONIC ANNIVERSARY AT LETHBRIDGE

Mr. Arthur Reid attended the 40th anniversary of North Star Lodge A.F. & A.M. at Lethbridge on Monday evening, when 280 members, representing 47 lodges in Alberta, were present. Representatives of the Grand Lodge of Alberta, pioneer members of North Star Lodge, and some of the early masters of the lodge, were present. The banquet was served by the ladies of the Order of the Eastern Star, and some fine addresses were given by those prominent in the order. Ed. Donkin, of Frank, and W. H. Chappell, of Blairmore, represented their lodges.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Reid accompanied Mr. Reid, sr., to Lethbridge to visit friends.

Did you ever see a white Boston bull pup? Most of them are black, with a white spot here and there. Mrs. T. Turner, of Saskatoon, sister of Mrs. Walter S. Purvis, on a visit here, has one that apparently has acted in reverse, for he is all white with a few black spots. But he is a real Boston bull, just the same, with a good bulldoggy head and as quaint as the rest of the Boston family around town.

Are You Locked Out

Just as round pegs will not fit square holes, cheap, inferior advertising will not fit the lock on the Door to the House of Quality. People who have the taste and means to enjoy things of quality must be addressed in a gentlemanly manner. To create that atmosphere of quality and correctness in your advertising requires the services of papers that go into the homes and are carefully read and studied.

FATHER OF MRS. C. W. MacKinnon HONORED

The Tavistock (Ont.) Gazette in a recent issue carried a photograph of Mr. James G. Field, father of Mrs. Chas. W. MacKinnon, whose 84th birthday anniversary on March 8 was honored by his fellow townsmen and by the employees of the factory of which he is the head.

The Gazette states: "Tavistock's oldest businessman, who will observe his 84th birthday anniversary on March 8, is enjoying excellent health, and despite his years, attends to his business every day. His many friends will join in extending to him hearty congratulations, and best wishes for continued health and happiness."

The employees included in their presentation a bouquet containing 84 rosebuds, as an unique souvenir of the occasion. Mr. Field visited here some years ago, and is well remembered by Coleman citizens who met him.

CANADIAN LEGION NOTES

J. A. King, of Edmonton, chairman of the provincial liquor control board, was here on Saturday, and discussed with Canadian Legion representatives the club proposal which has been under consideration for the past year.

The regular meeting of the Canadian Legion will be held in the Oddfellows' hall on Friday evening at 7:30 p.m.—Ray M. Steurbaut, secretary.

CROW'S NEST PASS MOTORS DISPLAYING NEW CARS

The famous Chevrolet, product of General Motors plant at Ottawa, and sold in this town and district by Crow's Nest Pass Motors, surpasses their many fine points of previous years. The new models now on sale will prove the most attractive yet seen, and it is of interest to note that the Ottawa plant of General Motors is now launched on its "second moon." L. L. Morgan, proprietor of Crow's Nest Pass Motors, will gladly give all information as to financing the purchase of the new cars.

Robert McFagen, killed in a mine accident at Michel, on Saturday, was well known here to some of the earlier residents. William Ambrose, caretaker of West-Coleman school, remembers working with him on a mining prospect near York Creek after the International Co. had commenced operations.

Weekly Editors See Premier King

The C.W.N.A., and editor of The Canadian Statesman, acted as spokesman. With Mr. King were Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of Agriculture; Hon. C. A. Dunning, minister of Finance; and Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of Transport.

Mr. King gave the delegation an attentive hearing during the meeting which lasted for more than one hour and assured the members of the delegation that the government was deeply appreciative of their offer of co-operation.

The delegation was introduced by Cameron R. McIntosh, Liberal member for North Battleford, Sask., and editor of The News.

Spirit of Good-Will
Mr. James told the Prime Minister that they did not come to ask anything of the government. They came in a spirit of friendliness, goodwill and co-operation backing up their editorial objective which had been to "make Canada a better place to live and work in." Mr. James outlined the changed conditions in the weekly newspaper field, pointing out that instead of a town having two newspapers, the average was now only one. Many of these weeklies had graduated from political organs to community newspapers. Thus they were able to take an independent attitude on public issues and were able to give greater service to the community they served. In such a position they had gained the confidence and respect of a great number of readers.

It was the desire of the editors of these papers to feature stories dealing with various government departments—stories with a human interest angle which would interest the average reader.

Samuel Wynn, of Yorkton, Sask., past president of the Association, thanked Mr. King and his associates for their kindness in receiving the delegation.

At a meeting of the executive of the Association on Friday afternoon it was decided to hold the annual convention at Vancouver early in August.

France Plans To Strengthen Her Treaty With Czechoslovakia

Paris, France, considered means to strengthen her treaty with Czechoslovakia to guard that republic from any German move as formation of a new Popular Front cabinet by Socialist Leon Blum was announced.

The treaty would be revised, foreign-office officials said, to provide military action even in the event Chancellor Hitler should attempt peaceful Nazification of the war-torn republic, with its 3,500,000 Germans, as with Austria.

Foreign office officials recalled the Franco-Czech treaty at present binds France to go to the aid of the war-torn democracy only in event of armed aggression.

Now, they said, experts were studying means of amplifying the pact to cover all manner of aggression even disguised.

It was pointed out there was no juridical grounds on which to base a charge of violation of a neutral state's territory in the case of Germany's action in Austria.

This followed from the fact Austria-Seyss-Inquart, Austria's new chancellor, asked Germany to send in troops.

Daladier, who was renamed defence minister, continued extensive military preparations on the eastern frontier.

Troops trained to fight inside the vast fortifications facing the German frontier moved into the formidable concrete and steel Maginot line which stretches virtually from Switzerland to Belgium.

Military police rounded up soldiers on leave from eastern area garrisons upon receipt of orders from Daladier. German leaves were cancelled.

There was lower activity at Metz where a garrison of 25,000 men has been manning it since Hitler reoccupied the Rhineland in 1936.

Foreign office officials charged the Nazis already were planning to despatch an ultimatum within a few weeks to Edmund Herr, president of Czechoslovakia, ordering him to give Nazi autonomy within the republic.

Changes in not only the Franco-Czech but the Russo-Czech treaties, it was said, would cover such a contingency.

Blum's cabinet, counting under-secretaries, included 15 Socialists and an equal number of Radical-Socialists, three members of Paul Boncour's Socialist union and one Left independent.

An indication that he was desirous of opposing with all the weapons at the command of France further Nazi expansion was seen in the designation of Laval as President as minister of propaganda. This is the first time France has had such a cabinet post.

The designation of Paul Boncour as foreign minister came as a general surprise. One of the most ardent apostles of the League of Nations, he is the man who called Premier Mussolini of Italy a "carnival Caesar" in chamber of deputies debate.

Recommends Vast Park

President Roosevelt Would Negotiate With Canada For Land

Washington, President Roosevelt said at his press conference he had forwarded to the United States state department a report of the Quebec superior committee, recommending creation of a vast wilderness park in Minnesota and Ontario.

The report proposed federal acquisition of lands in United States and negotiation of a treaty with Canada regarding the Canadian side of the proposed 10,000,000-acre park embracing the Rainy lake and Iroquois river watersheds on the Canadian border. It estimated $125,000,000 be required to purchase necessary land.

Honor Scientist

Sir William Bragg Receives Award For Outstanding Services

London, Sir William Bragg, the eminent scientist, was awarded the Institute of Metals medal for outstanding services to the metal industry, both from a scientific and a technical side at the annual meeting of the Institute here.

W. R. Barclay, retiring president of the Institute, declared Sir William's brilliantly conceived application of X-rays to the study of the structure of matter had influenced scientific research far beyond the boundaries of that particular branch of applied science represented by the Institute.

Suggestion For Flag

Ottawa, Grey Owl, Indian naturalist here on a speaking tour, said he thought Canada should have a flag of her own. "I think that two leavers on the left, and nine maple leaves on the right, representing the nine provinces, is a fitting design for the Dominion's flag," he said.

Peer Leaves Labor Party

London, Lord Sanderson, blind peer, resigned from the Labor party, declaring the return to power of a Labor government would be a "menace to peace." His resignation followed by a week that of Lord Amey, nationalist general in the Labor government.

An indication that he was desirous of opposing with all the weapons at the command of France further Nazi expansion was seen in the designation of Laval as President as minister of propaganda. This is the first time France has had such a cabinet post.

Composite Planes

First Official Test In England Proves Satisfactory

Rochester, Eng. Test pilots and spectators alike agreed the paring of Britain's two-piece plane in flight was satisfactory in its first official test. It was announced a flight to Canada and possibly United States is planned for this summer.

The slim Mercury, riding pick-up on heavy Maia, the composite showed trim efficiency when it charged down the Medway river and slipped into the air.

Describing the paring, J. L. Parker, test pilot, said there were four lights in Maia's cockpit. A red light indicated the machines were securely locked together. Two white lights told whether the composite was flying on an even keel—one of the other blinked when it was not. A green light appeared when the paring speed approximately 140 miles an hour was reached.

All the while Parker and Mercury's pilot, H. L. Piper, New Zealanders, were in telephonic communication.

At 800 feet the planes parted. Maia dropped and Mercury soared. Each craft banked in opposite directions and an accompanying plane was left far behind when Mercury showed her speed.

Punishment For Terrorists

British Military Forces Blow Up Houses In Palestine

London, Colonial Secretary Ormsby-Gore told the House of Commons 102 houses were blown up in 1936 and 11 in 1937 in Palestine as punitive measures against Arab terrorists.

This punitive destruction did not include clearings and demolitions in Jaffa in 1936 for which compensation was being paid, he said. All demolitions were carried out by military forces.

"In some cases the houses were the property of persons whose guilt could be proved but who could not be apprehended and tried," he said.

"In other cases it was impossible to trace the particular offender and the buildings selected for demolition were chosen as a general punishment on the inhabitants of a village whose collective guilt had been clearly established but among whom the actual offenders could not be traced."

Clash With Arabs

British Troops Killed 32 Tribesmen In Galilee Section

Jerusalem, British troops killed at least 32 Arabs when a military patrol encountered 150 tribesmen in the northernmost part of the Galilee section.

The band was a remnant of a large force engaged by British troops recently when more than 100 Arabs were killed.

Eight Royal Air Force planes and 1,000 soldiers took part in the action. British casualties were not disclosed.

First-Set Grand Council

Rome, The Fascist grand council went into session to determine Italian policy on foreign and domestic questions. Although foreign relations were first on the agenda, the subject probably will be deferred to permit development of conversations with Great Britain.

CABINET CRISIS DOESN'T STOP PREMIER'S DAILY WALK

There may be a cabinet crisis in the Mother country, but it does not stop Premier Chamberlain from enjoying his daily constitutional—a walk through the park. With him are Mrs. Chamberlain and Lord Swinton, British Secretary for Air, who appears to be on the verge of expounding an international problem, or maybe it was merely to remark on the beauty of the tulips in St. James' Park.

SCOTTISH COMMISSIONER

Sir John Gilmour, former Home Secretary in the British Government, who has been appointed Lord High Commissioner of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland. The Lord High Commissioner represents the King, titular head of the Church of Scotland, in Church Affairs and during his tenure of office he lives in Holyrood Palace, Edinburgh.

British Cabinet Changes

Minor Reorganization To Free Viscount Halifax Of Other Duties

London, Prime Minister Chamberlain put through a minor reorganization of the cabinet to free Viscount Halifax of other duties so he may concentrate on foreign affairs.

Unexpectedly the Prime Minister brought Lord Maugham into the cabinet. The 71-year-old former lord of appeal became lord chancellor and speaker of the house of lords.

He succeeded Viscount Halsbury, appointed lord president of the council, the post formerly held by Lord Halifax. Another of Lord Halifax's tasks was transferred to other shoulders. Earl Stanhope becoming government leader in the house of lords while remaining president of the board of education.

The series of changes resulted from Anthony Eden's resignation as foreign secretary and Lord Halifax's appointment to succeed him.

The house of lords representation in the cabinet was increased from six to seven. Lord Maugham becomes "keeper of the king's conscience" and the empire's chief legal position as head of the judiciary after a career devoted exclusively to law.

Investigate C.B.C.

Governors Of C.B.C. To Be Questioned Regarding Activities

Ottawa, Governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation will be called before the select committee of the House of Commons investigating activities of the corporation, it was decided as the committee, meeting for organization, elected Arthur L. Beaulieu (Lab., Provencher) chairman.

The governors, who will be in Ottawa for the annual meeting of the corporation March 21 and 22, will be called before the general manager, Gladstone Murray, and other officials.

It was agreed, committee members may submit written questions to the chairman for submission to officials of the corporation, and they will bring to the committee the information required to answer them.

Great Britain Registers Strong Protest Over Hitler's Drastic Move

Dispute Over Islands

Britain And United States May Submit Matter To Arbitration

London, British diplomatic sources, commenting on Prime Minister Chamberlain's statement in the House of Commons that Great Britain could not recognize the United States government's claim to the South Sea islands of Canton and Enderbury, declared London would propose joint sovereignty over the disputed territories.

If the United States turns this down, they said, Britain will suggest arbitration, but whatever the solution, it must take in both powers' requirements for seaplane landing facilities on the islands, according to well-informed opinion.

Mr. Chamberlain, answering Conservative and opposition questions, said:

"His Majesty's government maintain all their rights to the Phoenix group of islands. Last year the United States government contested the validity of the British claim to the Phoenix group of islands, in which Canton and Enderbury are situated, and declined to recognize the order-in-council of March 18, 1937."

"Sir Ronald Lindsay, ambassador to Washington, has been instructed to inform the United States government that His Majesty's government in the United Kingdom cannot regard the judicial situation as in any way affected by their recent action, which included landing on Canton island."

"This island has been effectively occupied by His Majesty's government, on Aug. 5, 1937, and an administrative officer now resides there. He (Sir Lindsay) is instructed to tell that His Majesty's government maintain all their rights to the Phoenix group."

"It is intended in the immediate future to submit proposals to the United States government which it is hoped will serve as a basis for ending this controversy in a manner satisfactory to both parties."

Austria Submits

Country Has Been Forced To Yield To Stronger Force

Vienna, following its Chancellor Von Schuschnigg's radio broadcast: "We have been confronted with a difficult and decisive situation."

"The German government presented the federal (Austrian) president with an ultimatum with a time limit according to which he had to appoint as chancellor a candidate who would be proposed to him and appoint a government according to the dictates of the German reich."

"Otherwise German troops would march into Austria at the hour named."

"I declare before the world that reports which were spread in Austria that there have been blood disputes, that streams of blood were flowing, that the situation was not master of the situation and could not keep order, were invented from A to Z."

"The federal president authorizes me to inform the Austrian people that we yielded to force."

"Because even in this grave hour we are not minded at any price to shed German blood, we have given our armed forces an order that in case invasion is carried out they are to withdraw without resistance and await decisions of the hours which are to come."

"So, in this hour, I say goodbye with the heartfelt wish that God will protect Austria."

Consent Not Necessary

Dominions Not Consulted In Regard To Anglo-Italian Negotiations

London, Prime Minister Chamberlain did not reply when asked in the House of Commons to supply copies of telegrams and replies exchanged with the Dominion governments in regard to Anglo-Italian negotiations.

Arthur Jenkins, Conservative, at Vancouver termed One Of Commercial Capitals Of Pacific.

Shanghai—Vancouver is becoming one of the world's most strategic points as a result of far eastern developments. Pierre Augé, acting French consul general, declared in a speech to a service club.

The British Budget

London, Prime Minister Chamberlain announced in the House of Commons that Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, will introduce his budget on April 26.

London, Great Britain has registered a strong protest at Berlin over Chancellor Hitler's drastic move to subjugate Austria.

Government officials watched with growing anxiety the events in Austria.

Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Berlin, on instructions from His Majesty's government, registered a protest in the strongest terms against the ultimatum by which Germany demanded the resignation of Chancellor Kurt Von Schuschnigg of Austria. André François-Poncet, French ambassador to Berlin, also registered a protest.

The protest was directed against the use of coercion, backed by force, against independence of Austria to create a situation incompatible with Austria's national independence.

Such action by Germany, informal quarters said, was bound to produce the gravest reactions of which it was impossible to foretell the outcome.

Earlier Mr. Chamberlain and Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, made it clear to Joachim Von Ribbentrop, Nazi foreign minister now in London, the grave concern of the British government at German troop movements near the Austrian frontier.

Germany's action was regarded here as creating the most serious situation since Hitler reoccupied the Rhineland March 7, 1936, in violation of the treaty of Versailles.

Italy, once Austria's protector, stood by to give the Austrian-born German chancellor, Adolf Hitler, a free hand.

Diplomatic sources in London agreed Great Britain and France, which is in the throes of a political crisis, could do nothing about Hitler's bloodless conquest of Austria beyond the joint protest which reinforced separate warnings to Germany of the "grave consequences" of Hitler's course.

Havas reported it learned Mr. Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax told Von Ribbentrop that if Germany counted on Britain's "disinterestedness" in Austria, it should not assume this "disinterestedness" would hold good for all central Europe.

Mr. Chamberlain was said to have given Von Ribbentrop to understand that if Austrian developments had repercussions in other countries, Britain might be led to act in concert with France.

Chamberlain was understood to have clung to the Nazi thesis that Austro-German relations are a "family affair."

Attention of the British government was directed to the situation by Von Schuschnigg after he received an ultimatum from Germany calling for his resignation and appointment of pro-Nazi Arthur Von Schuschnigg to succeed him.

Britain is understood to have let him know it could not countenance resistance but to have promised every effort in his government's behalf through Von Ribbentrop here, and through the embassy at Berlin.

Planes For Survey Work

Five Being Sent For Federal Operations In West

Ottawa, The Royal Canadian Air Force has almost completed preparations for the photographic operations for the different government departments, the national defence department said. Ten planes are being allotted again to this work.

Five planes will be sent to the drouth area of Saskatchewan and Alberta as soon as the snow melts. The detachment will continue detailed survey work until the ice breaks in the Great Slave lake area when the planes will change to floats to fly into the Yellowknife district.

When this work is completed, the planes will return to the prairies by way of Lake Athabasca where opening up of a new mining area has created demand for detailed maps.

Becoming Strategic Point

Arthur Jenkins, Conservative, at Vancouver Termed One Of Commercial Capitals Of Pacific

Shanghai—Vancouver is becoming one of the world's most strategic points as a result of far eastern developments. Pierre Augé, acting French consul general, declared in a speech to a service club.

He dwelt on the rapid growth of the Canadian port, and termed it one of its commercial capitals of the Pacific. He was formerly attached to the French consulate at Vancouver.

Voices Opposition To Reversal Of Policy Over Power Export

Ottawa, Threats, taunts, challenges and open defiance from Premier Hepburn of Ontario led to a reversal of policy by the Mackenzie King government over power export licenses, it was charged in the House of Commons by Hon. Earl Rowe (Cons., Dufferin-Simcoe), leader of the Ontario Conservative party.

In a fighting speech that featured the opening of the long-awaited power debate, the Ontario leader who was defeated in the provincial elections came out definitely against exportation of power. He charged the government with evading its responsibilities by transferring from itself to parliament the obligation of passing on applications for power export licenses, such as the one pending from Premier Hepburn.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King opened the debate by proposing second reading of the government bill which would clothe parliament with power to pass on export applications. He said eventually it might be necessary to establish a utilities commission, patterned along the lines of the proposed transport commission, to handle such subjects as power export licenses.

The attitude of the Ontario premier: had nothing to do with the government's power policy, Mr. King declared, claiming it was based on two export applications from Quebec which were received before Premier Hepburn applied last November.

Three or four times Mr. Rowe taunted the prime minister in an effort to find out how he would vote on the private bill which will follow, embodying Premier Hepburn's application. Each time there was no reply.

Exportation of power was a national, even an international, policy and should not depend on a private bill, the Ontario Conservative leader declared. It was an issue of such magnitude should have the leadership of the prime minister. Instead of that, the government, evading its responsibilities, was "hiding behind the petticoats of a private bill" and running for cover.

Mr. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, asked why a government should not risk its life on a vital subject like power exportation. It was incredible that so vital a subject should be left to the caprice of an unguided, leaderless opinion in a parliament lobbied as "we have seen it lobbied in days gone by."

Private legislation, such as the government legislation envisioned, was sure to lead to big lobbies, Mr. Bennett declared. Lobbies had operated in the past and they would increase under this legislation.

"Here we are told," Mr. Bennett continued, "a private member can introduce a bill to usurp the functions of government and provide for the export of the life of the country's industry." He doubted the constitutional position of a private bill which affected government revenues such as inspection costs.

Mr. Bennett joined other Conservative members in opposing any power exports but he promised to elaborate his views on this phase later.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

SPRINGTIME brings new enthusiasm, new hopes, new life to all natural things. It also recalls the story of a judge sentencing a criminal to be hanged. It was late in the year, and the judge in giving the condemned man a little homily on the waywardness of life and his sins in particular, stated that nature was just then going into its winter sleep, but after a few months, the snow would melt, the water would be babbling in the brooks, birds would be twittering in the branches of the budding trees, and all nature would be awake; but—"You, you son of a gun, you won't be in it."

HAPPILY we of the mountains experience greater joy and pleasure in the advent of spring than the plains dwellers. We enjoy the scenic beauties of the snow-clad mountains as the warm spring sunshine gradually dispels the winter snows, and the bluebirds flitting around our homes bring an added touch of splendor to the most glorious season of the year.

RECENTLY the executive of Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association met in Ottawa for their annual spring meeting, and interviewed the Federal cabinet, among whom was the Honorable Charles Dunning, finance minister. He intimated that the supreme court decision on Aberhart's legislation would go to the Privy Council, as that would be the best way to settle the matter for all time. It was pointed out to him that this further appeal would cost money, and as the weeklies have already been put to heavy expense, as well as the dailies, through contesting legislation which has proved useless, they did not relish the prospect of spending more money to fight wildcat hairbrained legislation which had for its objective among other things the control of the press of Alberta. His reply was to the effect that many of the Alberta fellows would have been entirely out of business had the Act been allowed to go through as originally planned. Hitler would like to control the press of Great Britain, to silence criticism of Nazi propaganda. A similar reason exists in Mr. Aberhart's mind, prompted by Major Douglas.

'Tis springtime in the Rockies, without a doubt, for Albert F. Short was sporting pansy blossoms in his coat lapel on Saturday, which he had picked from his garden. Someone has reported a robin, which Jim Cousins hasn't yet disputed.

THE GRAND DRAMA of Hitler's ambitious bid for domination of central Europe goes on apace. Anthony Eden, Britain's former foreign secretary, resigned rather than discuss negotiations with Hitler and Mussolini concerning European affairs, until certain well defined principles of honesty in diplomatic relations were guaranteed or accepted by the dictators. Prime Minister Chamberlain, in the interests of peace, according to his own statement, decided to open negotiations. Hitler in the meantime marches on, flaunting British opinion. Mussolini looks on possibly with secret rejoicing. Britain for centuries has been looked to by other nations for leadership and even protection. Her people pay the price of such a heavy responsibility, in which Canada as a nation of the British Commonwealth must share. We cannot remain isolated. There is no such thing as security, either in national or international affairs. Man's overweening ambition keeps the world in a turmoil and armaments are increased. This is the only effective answer to those who would live by the sword, though it must also be remembered that "he who lives by the sword will perish by it." History through the centuries has proved it, yet on Britain remains the great responsibility to maintain the supremacy of the Empire throughout the world.

IN DAYS such as these the remembrance of the bloodstained vest of the famous Nelson, which he was wearing when mortally wounded in the great naval action of Trafalgar, and which is now with other relics in the Royal Naval Museum at Greenwich, serves to impress on this generation that when Europe was thrown into a conflagration and Napoleon was on the march, there were daring men such as he, and Wellington, to whom was entrusted the naval and military destiny of Britain. All normal people are against war and its ravages, but negative pacifism would lead only to defeat and ignominy.

Winnipeg Free Press has made a suggestion which will meet with the approval of every church treasurer. Why not punch a good sized hole in the centre of our big nickles so that they will not so closely resemble quarters? The smallest coin anyone would dare put on a collection plate then would be a dime, and possibly some of those who have been seeking credit for giving quarters would be compelled out of very shame to put on a 25-cent piece. The idea is a good one.—Midland Free Press.—And would you believe it, many don't even put in the nickle.

Funeral Services For Scott Campbell

Funeral services for Ephraim Scott Campbell were held on Saturday afternoon, Rev. H. J. Bevan conducting. A short service was held at the family residence, the body then being taken to the United church. The hymns, "The Gospel Call" and "Abide With Me" were sung, Mr. Bevan basing his address on the subject "Life and Death." A brief graveside service was also conducted by Mr. Bevan.

Pallbearers were R. Ferguson, W. Nelson, T. Flynn, W. Milley, G. Fisher and J. Russell. Interment was made in the Union cemetery.

Miss G. Anderson, of Grafton town, is suffering from pneumonia.

Mrs. Tom Hibbert was rushed to hospital on Thursday last suffering from pneumonia.

Each Needs What Other Produces

NO TWO REGIONS on earth have more in common than the Western and Eastern parts of Canada. Each needs what the other produces. The East needs wheat, and next to Great Britain it is among the outstanding buyers of prairie wheat. The East needs cattle—and bought last year from the West a quarter of a million head. The East needs butter, so it buys between 20 and 25 million pounds each year. Sheep, lambs, hogs, calves—the industrial East buys them by the trainload. To an extent not generally realized, the part of Canada that lies east of the Great Lakes provides the prairies with a tremendous market.

THE 2,500,000 PEOPLE of the three prairie provinces also need many things that are produced in the Maritimes, Quebec and Ontario. For instance, Dominion Textile Company's 7,000 workers, who live in six Quebec towns, make bed sheets, material for dresses, underwear, and shirts and scores of other necessary and useful textile goods. They sell these products all over Canada—including the West. In return, they buy from all over Canada—including the West.

FUNERAL OF D. MACKO AT CALGARY

Evan Gushul, of Blairmore, nephew of the late Mr. Macko, attended the funeral services in St. Mark's church, Calgary, the church in which Mr. and Mrs. Macko were married, on Saturday, at which the Rev. M. A. Roe, B.A., officiated. The chief mourners were his wife, formerly Miss Lillian Jenkins, of Calgary; Miss Jane Loran, a friend of Mrs. Macko and Dr. and Mrs. Fields, of Edmonton. Many floral tributes were received as well as letters and messages of sympathy from many parts of Alberta and British Columbia.

Mrs. Bakaj, of Coleman, is a cousin of the deceased. There were no children. Two brothers and a sister, all married, are immediate relatives who survive, living in the Ukraine, where Mr. Macko was born.

Heartfelt sympathy will be felt by old friends here for Mrs. Macko, as prior to her marriage she was on the staff of Coleman hospital. It is her intention to remain in Calgary. Following the funeral she left to spend a week or ten days with Dr. and Mrs. Fields in Edmonton.

It takes a long time to explain what you don't know.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Gillespie's 40th Anniversary

Came To Coleman From Fife-shire, Scotland, in 1908.

Mr. and Mrs. David Gillespie quietly celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary at their home on Fifth street on Friday, March 11. They were married at Rutherglen, Lanarkshire, Scotland, in 1898 later moving to Fife-shire where they resided for a few years. In 1906 Mr. Gillespie came to Coleman, being joined by Mrs. Gillespie in 1907 and they have resided here ever since. During their long residence here both have taken an interest in civic affairs and lodge activities. For many years Mr. Gillespie was active in the miners' union and held the position of secretary, retiring in recent years from union activities to the quietness of his home. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie were active members of the Pythian lodge when it was in its hey-day in Coleman. Mr. Gillespie now devotes all his spare time to growing flowers during the summer months and his garden is one of the beauty spots on Fifth street.

Their family of seven daughters presented them with a handsome Chesterfield chair in honor of the auspicious occasion.

Trail Trims Calgary 5-0

Winning a decisive 5-0 victory at Trail last night against Calgary Rangers, Trail Smoke Eaters went up one game in their inter-provincial Allan Cup series with the Alberta champions. The second and third games will be played in Calgary on Saturday and Monday next.

Rangers found out what other Kootenay teams have known all season, that it is the Beniot-Cronie-Dame line that carries Trail's scoring punch and not the highly publicized Kowcinak-Duchak-McCreedy line. The Beniot line scored four of their team's five goals, Morris scoring the other. Scodellaro was credited with the shut-out.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Mr. John Williams, McGillivray company's blacksmith, was admitted to hospital on Sunday evening seriously ill.

John Howarth, of McGillivray Creek office staff, has been confined to his home for the past two weeks suffering from the flu.

Archie McCulloch, president of Coleman branch of St. John Ambulance Association, states that two stretchers are always available at Central school and one at the town hall to any party needing a stretcher in time of emergency.

Local hockey enthusiasts are expected to attend the Canadians hockey meeting to be held next Wednesday in the council chamber. The financial statement will be read, a report of the club's activities during the past season will be given by president Harry Gardner and election of officers for next season will be held.

M. W. Cooke, B. McKay, J. Park and H. T. Halliwell represented Summit Lodge A.F. & A.M. at the funeral of Robert McFagan in Michel on Wednesday afternoon. He was a member of Fernie Lodge, and Masonic rites were in charge of the officers of that lodge. Rev. Mr. Latimer of Michel United church conducted the church service. A large number of people attended.

Powder Snow In The Rockies

Nothing in Europe, according to the most enthusiastic visitors, can compare with the Canadian Rockies for skiing. Record crowds of visiting winter sportsmen this season have found superlative snow conditions in the Banff and Lake Louise districts of the great mountain ranges in Western Canada. Owing to the altitude of this mile-high playground, the ski-ing will remain good until early summer.

The Canadian Rockies are experiencing a great increase in popularity. Special trains have brought large crowds of skiers regularly from Western Canada and United States to enjoy the fine powder snow surface on the long, sweeping slopes of Mount Norquay and Sunshine Lodge, and many parties have penetrated to the unsurpassed Shoki Valley and Mount Assiniboine districts. Other large parties have come from Toronto, Boston, New York and distant eastern centres. Among their numbers have been celebrated skiers acquainted with the most famous ski-grounds of the world, all of whom have been impressed by the scenic grandeur, sense of exploration, and the perfect snow conditions. The pictures above include two scenes from Mount Assiniboine and Shoki Valley and action shots of expert skiers enjoying the deep powder snow.

Boy Scout and Girl Guide Notes

Interest in the Boy Scout movement is again coming to the fore in Coleman and a number of boys and their leaders met in the Catholic hall on Tuesday to get organized.

Reggie McMullen was elected chairman, and Arnaldo Delucka, secretary, of the meeting which was held to discuss means of raising funds to get their Scout charter and buy equipment. It was decided to hold a raffle with the following boys named on the arrangement committee: Bill Graham, Peter Graham, Jack Jones, Raymond Montelbetti, Donald Graham, Gene Lant and Reggie McMullen.

Any boy wishing to join the local Scout troop may do so by attending any of the meetings held every Tuesday evening in the Catholic hall.

Empire Exhibition to Make 1938 Scotland's Year

As last year was England's, with the Paris Exposition, so 1938 will be all Scotland's and mostly Glasgow's, with the great Empire Exhibition which King George will open in the Scottish metropolis on May 3.

Weekly throughout the summer Canadian Pacific liners will land visitors by the hundred at the famed Tail of the Bank, almost within sight of the exhibition grounds in Bellahouston Park. Not only will they see the exhibition, but in the majority of cases these visitors attracted to Scotland by the big show will go on from there to see much of the rest of Scotland. Appropriately enough this year has been chosen by the Canadian Scot's Re-Union for one of their periodical tours to the homeland. They will sail in a large party in the Duchess of Richmond from Montreal on July 8. In the natural beauty of Bellahouston Park, visitors will find the greatest show of Empire engineering and industry ever gathered into one place. Modernistic pavilions will house the exhibits of every Dominion and there will be palaces of engineering, the arts, industry, to mention but a few. Tree-top restaurants, built on stilts, a 300 foot observation tower atop the central hill, spacious walks and gardens and amusements galore will provide relaxation for the visitors. Color will be a striking feature. Pavilions will be colored, there will be green ones, blues, reds and yellow. The open-air restaurants and avenues will be gay with brilliantly colored sunshades and awnings and at night the whole scene will be flood-lit—a fairy-like scene on the banks of the Clyde. The handsome pavilion seen in an artist's drawing at the top left is the Canadian Pavilion at the Empire Exhibition as it will appear when completed. Lower right is a view of Loch Lomond, one of the scenic beauty spots that most visitors to Scotland and at the point of setting during their visit. At the left is a view of some of the cottages of the Highland chieftain at the Exhibition and at the top are artists' conceptions of two pavilions, the West African Colonies at the left and the Palace of Engineering at the right.

the printer's salary. A secondhand linotype named Betsey was installed about this time, and the legend is that Ed. neither ate nor slept until he had mastered the machine and understood all her faults and whims. Later, I was one of a few high school students in whom he detected sufficient reverence, not for himself but for his craft, that he would permit us to stand and watch while he clacked the keys and the matrices fell, one by one—thoughts metamorphosing to printed words; the stuff of dreams.

We would go through the dusty front office, with its desk littered with advertising copy—too little of this, the editor grumbled—county correspondence, locals, clipping, delinquent tax lists, auction sale bills, political notices, exchanges; where, miraculously, nothing ever seemed to get irretrievably lost; past the ink rollers of the press, to the cluttered back room where Ed tinkered with Betsey, and from those days we have known that more than skill goes into the making of a newspaper.

When the war came Ed. was one of the first to go, although he was not a military type.

"Most of the boys," he explained "have families. I don't want anyone but Betsey—and she'll wait for me."

Betsey would wait; but he should also have reckoned with Time and Tide. When he came back from the Army of Occupation, months after the armistice, the paper had been sold and the new proprietor had brought a new linotype and a new printer. Ed. walked past the office once, but he did not go in. He caught a train to Kansas City, where he heard, he found a job and prospered. The war had changed nearly everything, and maybe it had changed Ed. too; but some of us have never been able to believe that he found another linotype to take the place of Betsey. —Mary Zirkle.

CANADA'S CHARTERED BANKS VALUE YOUR GOODWILL

WHETHER you deal with a bank or whether you don't, some time soon—say the very next time you are passing the bank's door—why not drop in and get acquainted? You're sure of a welcome, because the bank manager wants to know you. So find out for yourself what kind of fellow he is. And before you leave, take a good look at his staff.

The head offices are manned and managed by just that sort of man! Every general manager in Canada started in the banking business as a junior in some small branch, and rose from the ranks.

(This is your introduction to a series of chats in the course of which you will be surprised at how little of mystery and how much of service there is in the business of banking in Canada.)

Canada's chartered banks want your goodwill.

It is only by goodwill that banks make a living—and bankers are your fellow-citizens, the same sort of people as you are.

Of course bankers have heard all the old, threadbare jokes about the banker's glass eye, his delight in humiliating worthy souls who ask for loans—even that grand old chestnut about lending the umbrella when the sun is shining and taking it back when it rains.

So if you think you have a new joke, drop in and spring it on your local bank manager—he'll appreciate it. And if it turns out he's heard it before, he'll still have his sense of humour handy enough to get a chuckle, should you chance to tell him that the banks are being held responsible for the latest storms, or for the loss of the hockey game, or for his own neglect to summon prosperity from just around the corner.

Which should prove to you that your banker is, after all, a very human person. He likes people. All bankers like people. And they want people to like them.

Banks want to be helpful. They realize that they succeed only as the people of the community succeed. Enlightened self-interest? Well yes—but not altogether.

Your local manager will tell you that banks are not stiff-necked, that they do not enjoy refusing loans.

They'd be foolish if they did, for goodwill is the whole core and pit and substance of successful banking.

Use your bank! Get to know the manager. If you know him already, he'd like to know you better.

Talk things over with him. Count him. He'll be glad to advise you on anything within the scope of his banking knowledge and authority.

He is a part of his community. More than that, he is a good citizen, because he is anxious to be helpful to his fellow-citizens in every permissible way.

You have all sorts of interests in common. Because of the town taxes you both pay, you are really business partners in the community.

Then why shouldn't you know each other, understand each other, better?

He knows that his success as a bank manager depends first upon making himself useful to people, and then upon his ability to get along with them. His whole future is wrapped up largely in those two things—and well he knows it!

A bank is in business to sell banking service where such service is needed, and where it does the community most good. So the banker of popular jest, the cold-eyed being who can only say "No," is a man of fiction only.

As we've said before, banks want and need your goodwill. No bank can get along without it. Telling the facts is probably the best method of winning it.

Intelligent people like plain talk. So in the talks to follow we shall be frank in giving you the facts about banks, bank ownership, bank operations, cash, currency, loans and interest. We would like you to read them all.

THE CHARTERED BANKS OF CANADA

Your local branch bank manager will be glad to talk banking with you. He will be glad to answer your questions from the standpoint of his own experience. The next article in this series will appear in this newspaper. Watch for it.

Country Weekly

(Christian Science Monitor)

For as long as our county had been organized it had had a weekly newspaper. Our first editor dated from the days of the county seat war, when even the New York papers took notice of us and said, "Once again Kansas courthouses are on the move." There was a man who flaunted the eccentric brilliance of early talent arrested by the horseplay of the turbulent frontier; a perpetual and dangerous, if amusing, adolescence.

His successor, now the editor of a national magazine, brought to the paper the stability required by a community that was growing up. He struck a nice balance between the highly personal journalism of the past, which had its points and its followers, and the more restrained methods now in vogue, and he never forgot for a moment the principle of using names and names and more names; so that the most remote subscriber could reach for his paper with a reasonable expectation of seeing in print the symbols that stood for his complex, his unique self.

It was in this editor's shop that Ed. one day appeared. At first he was no more than one of a group of small boys who flocked into the newspaper building when their other play grew dull, bringing fresh victims to be shown the "type lice" and getting underfoot until the editor and the old printer chased them away. All but Ed. After a time the two men became aware that the boy who stayed after the others had gone, and who persistently came alone, was always the same boy.

They tried sending him on errands, concocting involved trips to the other end of town, only to find that he always went cheerfully and was back before they had missed him, his job well done, and his nose once more unobtrusively in the type cases. They discussed, before him, the advisability of sending him through the press so he would know once and for all how it worked; far from being teased, he seemed aware that the boy who stayed after the others had gone, and who persistently came alone, was always the same boy.

The old printer always denied having taught Ed. to set type. "I couldn't 'a' kep' him from learnin'," he protested. But he was not displeased, and as the boy's interest persisted throughout his high school days, the printer leaned more and more on his unofficial help.

One spring day the season whispered to the old printer of green fields far away, and he caught the first train out of town. Ed. might have applied for the vacant job, but instead he quietly took over the work so that at the end of the week the editor could think of nothing to do but pay him Home.

In order to assist the electrical industry generally by putting greater loads on central stations, helping dealers to sell more appliances, and contractors better wiring, the Canadian General Electric Company is sponsoring a national $10,000 essay prize contest.

The contest, which commenced March 1 and continues until April 16, is designed to create a greater public consciousness of the need of electrical servants in the home. It is felt that there are any number of people who do not know the meaning of a scientifically-planned kitchen or how much labor can be saved by vacuum cleaners, electric washers, ironers and other appliances. At the same time, it is pointed out, the majority of people have only a hazy conception of the benefits of air-conditioning.

The contest, is regarded as a long-term investment, paying dividends over a period of years in the form of truer public appreciation of what the electrical standard of living really is.

Sixty-three prizes will be awarded. First prize is a certificate of $2,500 to be applied on the purchase of electrical merchandise, the second and third prizes being certificates for $1,000 and $500, respectively. Other awards range in value from $250 to $50.

Stimulate Business

Not only will this activity secure public interest, by the desirability of the prizes offered, but far greater and more lasting benefits will accrue from the educational opportunity it offers to acquaint thousands of homemakers with a realization of the new era of leisure and comfort that can be theirs by a greater use of electricity.

The Contest

The contest, with its 63 prizes totalling $10,000 in awards, is built around the "Electrical Standard of Living." Contestants are required to complete the following statement, in one hundred words or less:

"The electrical way of living appeals to me, particularly, because—"
Forms are being sent to practically all wired homes in the Dominion and additional blanks may be obtained from Canadian General Electric Company, Ltd., branches.

FOLDERS AND ENTRY BLANKS FOR GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPETITION

These may be obtained from the local General Electric dealer, Pattinson Hardware Co. They contain the official entry blank, give you all the information you require for your essay, and state clearly all the simple rules of the contest. No entry will be accepted unless on the official entry form. Ask your dealer to help you with the contest in a practical way. He will give you much helpful information about the electrical way of living. See him—TODAY.

Harry L. King, salesman for General Electric Co., with Pattinson Hardware Co., will gladly co-operate with you in any detail connected with the contest.

$10,000 IN PRIZES

WHY does the electrical way of living appeal to YOU? Your answer to this question may win first prize in the $10,000 contest of Canadian General Electric—and first prize gives you all the G-E appliances needed to make your home completely electrical.

To you, electrical living may mean glorious freedom from tedious household tasks—cleaning, washing, ironing and cooking. No woman should have to waste her youth on chores that electric servants can perform so swiftly and efficiently—for just a few cents a day.

To enter this contest you don't have to buy anything or otherwise obligate yourself. You simply state, in 100 words or less, why the electrical way of living appeals to YOU. That should be easy after you've read the folder described below.

SPRING POETRY

Harry Parkinson submits the following, which was written in hospital in Calgary. It refers to one of his ward companions, and its meaning will be quite apparent:
That bristly fungus growth on Purdy's lip
Departed hence this morn, gave us
The slip.
I watched the operation with alarm,
To see the man destroy his manly charm.
At last he dips the soapy brush—
O'er all the ward, there comes a hush;
A few deft strokes with razor—then
"What-ho!"
It takes a conscientious man to enjoy his work if the pay is small.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

William Cousins returned on Sunday morning from University Hospital, Edmonton, where he has been receiving treatment for an injury to his arm resulting from an accident in the mine about fifteen months ago. He has to return in a few weeks. Mrs. Cousins was also in Edmonton while he was in hospital. He was advised that it will be impossible for him to work in the mine again, and that he will have to secure light employment.

that a meeting would be held on March 16 in the Greenhill hotel to decide if First Aid and Mine Rescue competitions would be held this year. $200 had been provided by the Compensation Board and $200 for First Aid. Acknowledgment was also made of the financial help given by the local mining companies for the work.

Mr. McCulloch stated that a cup would be given this year for Junior First Aid competition. Dick Clark, of Hillcrest, stated that there should be a mine rescue competition, as it would serve to demonstrate that the equipment now in use was practically obsolete, and it would prove the necessity of better equipment being provided.

Bert Garrett stated that the mine workers were wholeheartedly behind the volunteer workers of the St. John Ambulance Association and would give them financial support.
